

PRINCESS NWAKEGO IBRAHIM-PAM

As a seasoned expatriate spouse who has lived in several continents it is important for me to follow my passion to impact lives of other vulnerable women, men and their families. These women and men need all the support and opportunities they can find for themselves in foreign countries and still have the strength to support their families emotionally and economically.

Being the Founder and Chairperson of the Expat Professional and Business Women's Network International, I oversee the different EPBWN chapters in the different countries and head the governing Board. I manage an in house services of the Placement and Mentoring programs of the EPBWN International and coaching of its executives.

EPBWN work in collaboration with other Network's Corporate sponsors, Embassies, NGOs, and International Organizations. We utilize the talent pool in the EPBWN International to train and build capacity for its existing members and provide a platform where expatriate spouses and others learn to keep their resumes and curriculum vitae active

I also work at identifying opportunities to place network members and our clients in a work environment or startup businesses. I am also an inspirational speaker in different platforms around the world.

I worked with the International Criminal Court (ICC) in The Hague as the first Administrative Assistant to the director of the Department in charge of relocating the court to its permanent site. I also worked with the International Criminal Tribunal for former Yugoslavia (ICTY) as a Judge's Assistant assisting to bring to justice all those involved in the genocide in the Baltic countries. I have also worked with British Council Nigeria on Universal Basic Education Project. I collaborated with Israeli Government through their Embassy in Nigeria as their MASHAV Coordinator for several years.

I have been active and involved in various charity organizations in the various countries I have lived. I was the president of an international women's organization known as Aglow International, in The Hague for many years.

I am also the Founder and Executive Director of Petra-Speech and Early Childhood Developmental Centre (PECC) it an inclusive educational centre which has been in existence for over two decades for specials needs children and their families.

I also worked with the refugees from Sudan in Tunisia where I made arrangement for them and their families to be taught the English language, feed and clothed them until I left Tunis with the support of my friends and church.

Currently I have form alliances within and around Songdo, Incheon South Korea. I co-founded the spousal association of the Green Climate Fund in Songdo, Incheon, South Korea.

I was recently given an award by the Korean government in recognition of my contributions to the Korean and expatriate communities in Korea.

My guiding principle in life is to leave a trace of myself in every country and community I ever lived in during my constant diplomatic journeys around to world and to impact and empower lives for sustainable change.

I am married to Mr. Ibrahim James Pam, Head of Independent Integrity Unit in the Green Climate Fund, South Korea and blessed with five children, four grandsons and a beautiful granddaughter.

Dedication, Excellence, and Diligence are my personal motto
